Dear Madam:

It gives me great pleasure to inform you that at the meeting of the Council of the American Numismatic Society held on December 9th, you were unanimously elected an Associate Member. Our By-laws stipulate that members elected after November 1st need not pay dues for that year in which they are elected unless they desire the publications for that year.

This year's publications will probably be three in number: two which have just been issued (Noe: Coinage of Metapontum, and Newell: Two Egyptian Coin Hoards), and a third (Rogers: Second and Third Seleucid Coinage of Tyre) which will be ready shortly.

Will you let me know if you desire to have these publications or whether you would prefer to have your membership commence in 1928?

Very truly yours,

Secretary

Dear Mrs. Camman:~

Today I heard from Mr. Wayne Raymond that a copy of Gardner's Coin Types is available at $15.00. Would you care to pay that much for a copy? If so, I will gladly order it for you, or you may do so direct if you prefer.

Very truly yours,

Secretary

1088 PARK AVENUE

My dear W. H. C.

Unless Gardner's Coin Types is practically a duplication of the Macdonald (a Macdowell) book on Coin Types, which you so kindly lent me - I would be very glad to have the copy for $15. I want a few of the reliable works for reading & for reference, for the subject is so large & so fascinating that I feel rather overwhelmed, & I could be truly at a loss where to turn if it were not for your most friendly aid. Thank you very much - & if it is not too much trouble, will you get the Garden book for me. Sincerely yours

Edw B. Cushman.

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

Your note is at hand, and I have asked Mr. Wayte Raymond to deliver to your residence the copy of Gardner's Coin Types at the cost of $15.00. I feel sure that you will derive a lot of satisfaction from the volume and, along with the others which you have ordered, it will give you a very good working library.

Dear Madam:

Referring to the coin you left with me; Mr. Newell confirms my suspicion that it is not genuine. It should be returned to Mr. Khayat, and he should refund the purchase price. Mr. Newell says, he has previously told Mr. Khayat, that the piece was not genuine. Perhaps your brother will handle the matter for you.

I plan to be away from Tuesday of next week, until the 25th. But, should you be unable to getlain you piece on Monday, Mr. Wood will get it for you, if you call during my absence.

Very truly yours

Secretary.

Sunday -

1088 PARK AVENUE

My dear Mr. Lee.

May I again trespass on your Kindness to ask if you would put aside for me (unless someone else has selected it) the coin of Coston with the tripod & the incuse eagle. I think the price was about $17 or $18, & I will send the check - drawn to the Numismatic Society? I was rather bewildered at the array of Corinthian coins & first to return to Coston.
You truly gave me too much to see. The little winged lion of Rhegium is delightful. I am always most grateful for your wise advice in choosing the coins, because I am hindered not only in lack of knowledge, but by the endeavor to work out a connecting chain of history & geography which is becoming more interesting, but often leads me to select coins which are not so artistic or well cut that an actinium coin which I showed you had puzzled me with its poor & clumsy type, & I thought it was "Colonial work"

a poor copy of Corinth - & you set me straight by dating it.
If there is among that assembly of Corinthian colony coins one which you judge is clear cut & typical,
showing that larger type of Athens,
will you select it also for me
& let me know my indebtedness.

My other debt - asking your help & advice. I must close with warm thanks & appreciation of all your kindness. Sincerely yours -
Jean B. Laumier

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

Today I am in receipt of a communication from Dr. Birch saying that your bid for the Syracusan gold piece, No. 316 of the sale, was successful. The piece brought 2,078 Francs, and this with the commission and postage amounts to 2,510 Francs. He wrote that he was sending the coin addressed to me to avoid any complication with the Customs, and I will write you as soon as the piece has reached my hands. I am very glad that you were successful in obtaining this coin.

My dear Mr. Gre.

I received a letter from Messrs Spink
about two weeks ago with a bill for 100 per had gone far beyond my bids. I sent a money order direct to them but to day my son has forwarded a letter to me which was sent care of the Numismatic Society, saying the coin is being sent there. I hope that I have not imposed things by sending the draft direct to Messrs Spink.

I do not know if they included commission.

I am so glad you will be in New York in August 23rd & will stop here that I may before coming up to the Numismatic. The history of ancient coinage in Gardner is giving me very interesting reading on every wet day. I note that he attributes the Syracusean gold coins to Simon ^{474 B.C.} & the Catalogue agreed with the Historia Numorum in saying the die is from ³Oranites. I have the Catalogue here, but am not expert enough to trace the family likeness in my particular engraving ³¹⁶ & hope you can help me. Sincerely yours -

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

On Thursday of last week we received your very delightful gift - the magnifying glass with its attached light - and I think it has produced a considerable quantity of envy on the part of some of our members who have since seen it. It is all that you describe it to be, and is used in Mr. Wood's department as soon as it begins to get too dark to see by daylight. To say that we are grateful for your gift is much too mild. The spirit in which it has been made touched me very deeply, and Mr. Sewell, too, felt that your gift was a very pleasant reminder of the pleasure we all experienced whenever you are able to visit our Museum.

Your cards of introduction have been most useful, both here & in Paris; & half the pleasure of my summer has been in seeing such wonderful collections of coins, & in the kind & courteous manner with which I was received. The casts are exquisite, & I am bringing home quite a number from coins which can never form part of my own little collection.

I found a large volume of the Belgian Numismatique, which I thought might be of interest in the Numismatic Library. Historically, if not aesthetically. It is being sent to you, at the Numismatic Society, & if you think it is worth keeping, would you have it bound for the library, &

It was most kind of you to take time to write me when time is so valuable. I am very glad that I can tell you that your experiences in Paris and Brussels have been so pleasant. I get a special kind of vicarious enjoyment out of such word as you are able to send back.

Thank you very much for your gift of Lafont's magnificent volume, La France en Belgique Occupée. This is a very valuable record, and I shall have it bound as you direct. I appreciate your thought for the library very much indeed.

You doubtless know of your brother's departure for Europe last Thursday on the Bresen. I do not know his schedule but I suspect that he will be in Italy about the time you are there. He took a note of introduction to Ettore Ponsisi. Would it not be strange if you should meet there?

Dear Mrs. Cammann:-

Your note of the third was awaiting me on my return last Monday, but the pressure of detail which I found awaiting me after my week's absence has kept me from responding until now. Mr. Maxwell was in yesterday, and I showed him your outline, and he agreed with me that the outline you submitted was admirable, and that it promised to be very useful.

One suggestion occurred to him - instead of using capital P far-right, it might be well to use small (r) - the reason being that you will thus avoid confusion with the inscriptions you cite, which will be in caps. So too, with (l.) for left.

Then, under Stratos, you give the inscr. as TPA - this is probably Fabulou's decipher. of what appears on the plan he examined. What about the complete inscr.? Would it not have been ()TPA? When it is such an ethnic, would it not be better to give it as it should be?

Of course, with many of the symbols, the arrangement you describe - i. e., profile r. preceding profile l. and both preceded by facing head, will not apply. Such questions will work out empirically, however, and no further suggestions occur to me at the present time. May I ask you to send me a sample sheet to test out your scheme further? I hope the above will not provide any complications or confusion for you.

Very sincerely yours,

Secretary.

Dear Mrs. Camma :-

This morning, when I got into telephone communication with Mr. Gallatin, he informed me that you had already returned and were at Tuxedo. My reason for asking him was because I noted in looking through the catalogue of an auction sale to be held in Germany next month, a copy of Babylon's Tarite, I partie, Theorie et Doctrine. It is listed separately, and the advance valuation seems to me very low - 20 marks. If it would not interfere with my standing order which you may have placed with a European agent, I should suggest that you allow me to bid for this copy for you. It seems to me that 60 marks ought to command it, and as the copy is described as being bound in half-leather, that price would not be excessive.

I am planning to send a bid for certain of the other lots in the sale the end of this week - if you wish me to include a bid in your behalf, will you please communicate without delay.

You will be interested to know that there are several Corinthian slaters here awaiting your coming - five, I think, including the one with the rough back-piece to the helmet. The Italian dealer accepted our offer.

I am hoping that your trip proved all that you anticipated, and that I shall have the pleasure of hearing about it after you return to the city. With cordial regards, please believe me,

Very sincerely yours,

Secretary.

P.S. The dealer's name is Felix Schlosser, Bismarckstrasse 97-98, Berlin-Charlottenburg, Germany. I mention this in the event that you may want Spirk or someone else to bid for you.

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

Thank you for your cheque in payment of fifteen dollars for dues, and with a very modestly recorded contribution of ten dollars for the library. I very much appreciate your thought for the library - if possible I shall try to see that it is allocated to the purchase of some work which can be designated as a gift from you.

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

It gave me great pleasure to receive your letter of February 28th, and to have an account of your doings in Palermo. I share your disappointment in not being able to see the coins in the Museum there, but I am glad that you could take advantage of the one perfect day and add Segesta to your roll of Greek temples.

I am glad to send you the letter which you ask - to have Florence added to your other Italian experiences is to crown them royally! I would suggest that you ask for an appointment on your arrival in Florence, because it may require several days' arranging, as it is dependent upon the convenience of the Director of the Museum, if the procedure is the same as that which maintained when I was there. It might be well for you to reinforce my letter with a card such as Signorina Cesano would be glad to give you I feel sure. I am hoping that you will have no other experiences like those at Palermo.

We have received a letter and a package from Messrs. Spink & Son. I took the letter to the Council meeting and Mr. Gallatin decided to open it. He found that it related to coins which Messrs. Spink had purchased for you at a recent sale. The coins obtained were Nos. 264 (Locri) and 386 (Syracuse bronze Zeus head), the total cost of the two coins being 2.13.6d. No. 271 (Rhegium) was not bought it having brought a price of 1800 francs.

I have just talked with Mr. Gallatin who has directed me to send the Spink invoice to him after having shown the coins to Mr. Newell who thinks that they are quite all right. Mr. Gallatin felt that it would be the simpler way of handling the matter, and I hope this course meets with your approval. I am keeping the coins here until your return.

I hope you will have had no more stormy weather of which you write, and that you will have nothing but pleasant memories of Sicily and Italy.

Very sincerely yours,

Secretary.

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

This note is merely to re-assure you that I have not forgotten completely my promise to send you the photographs of your coins of Corinth. The cloudy weather of the last week coupled with two absences on the part of Mr. Wood have so delayed this work that it is not yet completed. I think there is likelihood that that they will be ready to mail to you within a very few days and no time will be lost in sending them once they are ready.

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

Under separate cover, I am sending you the prints of your coins, together with the previous lots, which we re-photographed in an effort to get better lighting. I think you will feel that in certain cases there is a decided improvement, such, for example, as the "Mayton" which is the sixth coin on the top row. With some, however, I think we still have room for improvement. The two prints of your own coins will enable you to select the preferable one. One print is light, the other dark.

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

Will you be so good as to jot down at the foot of this page the name of the person you saw at Florence in charge of the Coin Cabinet there? I wish to write for the weight of a certain coin and it would simplify matters if I might make the transaction a personal one, rather than an official one; at least, it seems so to me. However, if you do not have this information with you at Tuxedo, I can simply address my query to the Museum and perhaps it would receive more prompt attention for being official - who knows.

Very sincerely yours,

Mr. Geo. B. R.

I expect to be in New York in a few days during the week beginning Aug. 1st. I would it be convenient for you to see me on Tuesday, 18th or Wednesday morning. I am in many details to adjust with the photo into a few crossing letters to be settled in if possible. Will you send me a note soon to say which day will suit you best. If necessary I will arrange for Thursday morning 20th. I hope the thermometer has kept at its usual comfortable temperature even here it is very hot.

Mrs. George P. Cammann

South Hampton, L. I.

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

Your note is at hand. I expect to be in my office on the 12th, as well as on the 20th, but as Mr. Ford is absent on his vacation during August and since during this month we come in on Wednesdays only, that is the only day of the week on which it is possible for me to be absent. In consequence, unless I hear from you to the contrary, I shall expect you on Tuesday the 12th.

Thank you, the Museum has not been unbearable, even in the hottest weather. We are getting a fairly considerable amount of work done. You will be pleased to know that we are planning a "picnic" this afternoon, looking at one of your boxes of coins. When you come on the 12th, you will meet Miss Work I hope, and gain some idea of how pleasant it is to have so competent an aid during summer months.

Very sincerely yours,

Mrs. George P. Cammann

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

Your note is at hand, I am glad you enjoyed "Greek Cities".

I am enclosing a print of the Ambracian issues of which you wished reproductions. These are made from M. Havel's casts. In one or two cases they are capable of improvement I think - that is, the sword and the dog. The piece in between these two, of the caduceus surrounded by a wreath, is in such low relief that I doubt that better results will be possible from the cast.

One reason for not having had results regarding the other coins before this is that I wished to make the comparison of the results afforded by this plate with the photographs taken directly from the coins. Will you give me your opinion? It seemed to me undesirable to have the photographs from the casts mixed with those taken directly from the coins but I am not sure that this mixing is going to be at all obvious, when such excellent results are obtained as these Ambracian coins provided. Will you let me have your judgment in the matter, please? On this decision hinges the question as to whether we shall re-photograph from the British Museum Catalogue or ask them to photograph the pieces we want directly from the coins; and, by analogy, the same applies to the Paris coins, since we need not ask for direct photographs if reproduction from the traite is satisfactory.

My dear Mr. Fox.

I have just phoned to the Museum to say that I expect to come to New York for a couple of days, next week, & will come to see you on Thursday morning - if convenient to you.
The Panel photos are beautiful; I have fastened them in place with the other photos & the effect is very good. But of course I do not know whether the contrast shows more or less when they are reproduced. And therefore I would like to go over the photos with you & see what your advice. Sometimes the cast seems to show up more clearly in a photo than the original coin, for it loses the discolorations - but the delicacy of touch & shading also fades away.
There was a very good specimen of the Panel "Benjamin in mouth of pellets" at Syracuse. but I fear it would be difficult to a long process to obtain a photo of it.

In correcting & going over the catalogue,
it has become much more compact & much better in the sequences. & I think it will be possible to omit the references to the dies in the preface. But all the details I would like to discuss with you. Thank you very much for sending the photos.

Sincerely yours

Sam B. Hammond.

Are not the BMC plates all taken

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

Ever since I received your telephone message I have been lacking myself for not having sent you a line to confirm the word you received that I expect to be here on Thursday next. Needless to say, I shall be glad to see you and to go over with you any questions that may have arisen.

Yes, the British Museum Catalogue plates are from casts. The question is my mind was whether we had better re-photograph from their plates or ask them to photograph directly from the coins themselves. I am adverse to taking the latter course if the former is going to prove satisfactory. However, we shall be able to talk of this when you come. I am sending a copy of this letter to your New York address to provide an inst the original failing to reach you before you leave Tuxedo Park.

Mr. Newell was in on Thursday of last week and he feels that we need not hesitate to ask the British Museum to photograph the Christiana stars we desire. In consequence, I am sending your request to them before leaving for my vacation, in the hope that the finished product will be on hand shortly after my return.

Mr. Newell found that he had a specimen of the spectrum plate which he showed you when you were here. He said that he had paid $20.00 for his and that the price asked for this was therefore not at all excessive. I am sorry to seem to be placing temptation in your way again, but you will recall that you asked me to let you know Mr. Newell's decision. You and he are the only ones who have seen it so far.

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

Your note is at hand and as soon as your finished monograph is received I shall have the number of copies you specified sent to Brentano's and send the further number to you at Tuxedo Park. There is as yet no indication of just how soon this will be, although I believe the printers are losing no time.

Yesterday we had an interesting day with Prof. Bellinger of Yale here and today I have been getting excited over some problems connected with Caulonia. Possibly I may accept your offer to obtain certain casts for me when you reach Paris. If it would not be too much trouble, I may also ask you to look at the Caulonia pieces not published in the DeLuynes Collection Catalogue for additional pieces of interest. Incidentally, one of the Caulonia pieces is struck over a Corinthian stater which it may be possible to identify, now. More of this when I see you, however.

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

This morning I received a letter from Mr. Newell who is a rather well known person here to be a rather capable business man. I quote:

Il me semble que vous ne devriez pas lui donner plus de 375.

Je vous prie de vouloir bien lui faire savoir que vous n'avez pas les pièces plus importantes. Je voudrais bien envoyer aussi quelque "gift" à la Société."

Mr. Newell has not seen this letter and I cannot foresee what he may suggest. It seems to me the only course open is to insist on an identical price of the seven pieces. Perhaps you would be willing to indicate your limit for the single piece you desire. This might enable us to say that, even though we return the others, assuming that he asked for them more than Mr. Newell cared to give and assuming at the same time that he did not ask more than your limit for the piece you want.

Largely through my fault you failed to receive the package containing your twenty monographs before you left. I asked Mr. Rush to send them to you that night and I hope they will have reached you by this time. I cannot remember whether I told you that I plan to have part of my vacation beginning the 15th of July. However, as this had bearing on the Newell question only it is no longer pertinent except insofar as you might plan to visit the library before you sail.

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

I am enclosing a copy of my letter to Pappalardo. We feel that this is the only way to get to his price for these pieces and inasmuch as Mr. Howell says that he would not be willing to pay the price you name for the cow and calf stater I should think the chances of your ultimately obtaining it are good. It will take most of the time you are gone to obtain an answer from Pappalardo in any event, but I am writing him at once in order that we may close the matter if possible. Thank you for your kind wishes for my vacation. I am hoping that your trip abroad will also be a joy to you.

Very sincerely yours,

EN:JC

Dear Mrs. Cannann:-

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Newell was in, and I placed the matter of the Pappalardo coins before him. He is quite content to have you take them, but he agreed with me that we should make an offer - say of $40. 00 for the three - rather than pay the price first asked. If you agree to take, I will write to Pappalardo on receipt of your response.

The enclosure speaks for itself - I hope it will give you a mild 'thrill.' I knew it did when I first saw my name on a Library of Congress card. Should you want to send any farther copies of your phonograph, please let me know.

Very sincerely yours,

Secretary.

Dear Mr. Howell
I wish I had seen Mr. Howell in New Haven & I have just written to him. The three & statues are all so good that I did not want any of them to be returned as I would certainly have bought them if they had been offered to me in New Haven. But I want Mr. Howell to understand that my offer to take any or all means after he has made his own choice
if it is the "Cott & Self" which is his desire. I hope he will take
it. I truly cannot selfishly grasp at the "Cott & Self" which Mr.
Howell sends to ground at his splendid collection. I feel this especially after his kindness & courtesy in allowing me to use them in the catalogue. I do hope you can explain the to him in case my letter is not received. The apparent need is a year of the cones being returned - & with the difficulty of judging at what Mr. Jewell really is worth. I doubt if Pappabard will reduce his prices, & that are rather less than the French dealers, but I rather doubt to create a quill market. I will certainly leave it to your judgment. I would take them at present prices if he does not come down - but only after Mr. Jewell makes his decision.

Now that you got the Congressional Library card, I am most truly thrilled to see it & get enabled to have photographic reproductions

back to put in my presentation & pro. At all times
I will send to me & especially the latter they are so important & valuable. It was a joy to answer Prof. Bauer's letter & to ask if he had seen the little symbols. I. Hirsch wrote me a very important letter & said my study had led me to acquire a rather high state of grammatical knowledge. He also approved of the catalogue & sent very appreciatively & promptly.
For the best I do not know when I will see him here before returning in October. But I hope as Mr. Powell will write me & see his conscience
(Mr. Powell thought the "eye symbol" was the quietest of the group. as you see there are all desirable
I thank you so much for writing.

Truly yours

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

Herewith I am sending you a copy of a German publication which was sent me for forwarding to you. You will see that it contains a brief review of your monograph and you will perhaps also perceive that the 'review' is rather a statement of contents than a critical appraisal of them, although the reviewer does not agree with you regarding the desirability of photographing the coins directly, preferring the plaster casts because they are uniform in tone.

Very sincerely yours,

My dear Mr. Lee.

Thank you so much for sending the German notice. It is decidedly thrilling & interesting to have them & I like to get the different points of view. The photos of casts are extremely sharper & the auction catalogues are far better - but I am glad that we used the coins in this catalogue, for it has made it a thing of beauty especially in the subcategory. And I feel that is often the missing link in numismatics - working at the statistics & putting too little stress on the artistic side which is the true "soul" of the Greek coins.

I hope I am not keeping your letter too long but I will not leave it alone until Vol 5. The Pappel article is most enjoyable.

Sincerely yours

Edw. B. Cammann

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

Missing your visit last Saturday was one of the penalties I had to pay for being away. On my return I found a letter from Pappalardo accepting the offer of $4.00 for the three pieces we desire and offering to present any one of the remaining pieces to the Society as a gift from him. Apparently he has no ill feelings.

I also found a letter and two or three packets of Corinthian coins which Sink had taken the liberty of sending us. I am sure you will be interested in looking through these when you come but in the two which have already been received I feel sure that there will be little to attract you.

Tomorrow is Council meeting and I suspect it will be dedicated to the Philharmonic by you. I plan to be here on Saturday, should you have that day free.

Very cordially yours,

Dear Mrs. Cermann:

Your Corinthian coin (Phytis?) has been found. I have also found a small box of casts which is evidently the one you mentioned when you were here. Mr. Newell has left his Corinthian drachms for your examination and I hope this parting statement will be more of an enticement than either of the others and that you will soon give us the pleasure of welcoming you here.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mrs. Cammann:

Concerning the two coins
on which you placed bids at Mr. Bolender's auction you were successful in obtaining the Corinthian one with the Harpa symbol at $3.72. Will you please have your check drawn to the order of this Society.

Very truly yours,
